

Endorsement of Resource

Application for endorsement of resource

APNA is committed to supporting primary health care nurses in developing their knowledge and skills. APNA aims to support, facilitate and promote professional development opportunities to its members and subscribers.

Continuing professional development (CPD) is an essential part of a nurse's role, to ensure they are current with the latest clinical teaching and they fulfill their AHPRA registration requirements.

What is APNA endorsement?

APNA Endorsement is a process by which CPD activities are peer reviewed by multiple nurse experts and validated against a set of quality standards. Primary health care nurses undertaking APNA Endorsed activities can be confident that they are relevant, professionally delivered and include a formal evaluation.

Why have your educational resource endorsed?

Having your CPD activity endorsed by APNA is a great way to ensure that it is fit-for-purpose for primary health care nurses. We can also promote your CPD activity to our members and subscribers to ensure that nurses know that your quality education is available for them.

Benefits of APNA Endorsement:

- Ensure your CPD activity meets the needs of primary health care nurses
- Evidence that your activity has been reviewed by multiple nurse experts and that the education is based in best practice guidelines
- Listing of your education activity on APNA's website for nurses to find
- Endorsed activity directly promoted to APNA's 24,000+ members and subscribers
- Allows the use of APNA's endorsement logo for your marketing purposes.

The aims of APNA endorsement are:

- To guide organisations in the standards required by the profession.
- To encourage organisations to adopt best practice educational principles when developing CPD activities.
- To recognise APNA members' commitment to CPD and guide participants in the allocation of appropriate CPD hours for the purpose of meeting their requirements under national registration.
- Provide the opportunity for education providers to receive feedback from APNA, ensuring endorsed activities accurately reflect the primary health care nursing context and scope of practice.
- An easy way for APNA members to find endorsed CPD on topics they seek to expand their knowledge on.
- For APNA to advertise quality education to its nursing database.

What educational resource can be endorsed by APNA?

Any resource developed meeting evidence based guidelines to support education and learning needs for primary health care nurses or to advance nursing in primary health care be submitted for endorsement.

How much does it cost?

APNA provides options for endorsement including and excluding direct promotion by APNA to its members and subscribers. A non-for-profit and bulk discount is available, please email endorsement@apna.asn.au for more information.

0 – 2 CPD hours	$650.00 inc. GST
3 CPD hours +	$700.00 + $50.00 / hour inc. GST

Application process:

The completed application form along with all supporting documents and payment must be submitted to the APNA office. Once the application and payment has been confirmed, applications are forwarded to nominated APNA assessors for adherence to the quality standards. All APNA assessors have advanced knowledge in various specialties. Applications may be submitted at any time; however, applicants should acknowledge the time taken to complete an application process to ensure sufficient time is granted before the proposed date of each activity. Applicants are usually notified of the outcome of their application within 4 – 6 weeks.

If there are issues that needs to be resolved for the application to be successful, there will be an opportunity to provide a response to feedback from the assessor to improve their activity and meet endorsement criteria. However, a maximum of three rounds of feedback are given and if the issues are not resolved the application will be unsuccessful and your application will be declined.

Successful endorsement:

Once endorsement is granted, APNA will contact you to outline the conditions of endorsement and to provide an electronic copy of the APNA Endorsed logo for use in promoting your resource. APNA's name and logo is copyright and is not to be used without authorisation from APNA. The APNA Endorsed logo can only be used in conjunction with the relevant APNA Endorsed resource. Any infringement or misuse could result in legal proceedings and the withdrawal of endorsement.

APNA must be notified if considerable changes are made to an endorsed activity's content, delivery, outcomes or objectives during the endorsement period. APNA will then review changes and advise if the endorsement is still valid. It is the responsibility of the applicant organisation to contact APNA should the content be changed considerably.

Endorsement becomes invalid once the 24 month endorsement period ends. Providers may apply for re-endorsement after this period. APNA will assess the activity and evaluate the re-submission. If an endorsed resource fails to adhere to APNA Endorsement standards and guidelines at any point within the 24 month endorsement period then APNA Endorsement may be withdrawn, and evidence requested demonstrating how the activity will meet the required standards. In all cases APNA is committed to working with applicants to ensure a successful APNA Endorsement program.

What if my application is unsuccessful?

If there are issues that needs to be resolved for the application to be successful, there will be an opportunity to provide a response to feedback from the assessor to improve their activity and meet endorsement criteria. However, a maximum of three rounds of feedback are given and if the issues are not resolved the application will be unsuccessful and your application will be declined.

If your application is unsuccessful, you may resubmit your application at full 'without promotion' cost. If resubmitting, applicants will be required to clearly demonstrate how they have addressed any issues or concerns and will meet APNA's expected quality standards. APNA's endorsement is at APNA's discretion.

CPD hours:

APNA will provide guidance to successful applicants on the relevant CPD hours that participants may be entitled to claim. APNA is not responsible for logging participants CPD hours at the completion of an endorsed activity. It is the responsibility of the attendee to keep a log of their CPD hours. APNA does offer a CPD Portal that allows APNA members to securely record, store and retrieve their CPD through a simple and accessible web portal. The CPD portal can be found at <http://www.apna.asn.au/>.

APNA Endorsement Quality Standards

Below are a set of standards for endorsement of resources. Please provide adequate information to meet these standards.

Quality Standard 1

The resource is highly relevant to the needs of primary health care nurses to provide high quality nursing care in a primary health care setting

The resource should be relevant to the needs of primary health care nurses and the context of their nursing practice. APNA encourages that at least one primary health care nurse is consulted in the development of the resource. Experts who understand primary health care nursing should also be involved in the development of the resource.

Quality Standard 2

The content of the resource is evidence based and of high quality

Information contained in the resource must be evidence based and outcomes should reflect current best practice.

Quality Standard 3

The production and distribution of the resource is professional

The resource is widely available and easily accessible to nurses.

Quality Standard 4

The resource is formally reviewed on a regular basis.

APNA recommends an annual review of the resource.

Quality Standard 5

The resource is developed by a credible organisation

In order to be eligible for APNA Endorsement an organisation must conduct its business within relevant state and Commonwealth legislation and demonstrate their expertise in the area of application.
